Carville, Greenberg, Shrum to RNC: Thanks for Your Interest, Memo Arrives Next Week

WASHINGTON – In response to the question preoccupying the Republican National Committee (Where's the Next Memo? RNC press release, March 1, 2002), Democracy Corps will release its next memo the week of March 11.

Our question for the RNC is: why does President Bush insist on using the next 75 years of Social Security funds to pay for a huge tax cut that benefits the wealthy and ignores the middle class?

Democracy Corps is an independent non-profit organization founded by James Carville, Stanley Greenberg, and Robert Shrum. The organization seeks to play a vital role in shaping the political debate by providing research, strategic advice, and a public voice to the issues that matter most to the American people.
